REDDING RANCHERIA PARTNERS WITH REDDING RODEO TO SPONSOR NATIVE AMERICAN HERITAGE NIGHT AT THE RODEO REDDING RANCHERIA

This is the second year in a row that Redding Rancheria has partnered with the Redding Rodeo Association to promote and share Native American heritage and culture in this way. The night began with an opening prayer by Jack Potter Jr. then we brought out the Redding Rancheria Tribal Flag alongside the American flag. Tribal Council Member, Tribal Elder and veteran, Leon Benner, held the Redding Rancheria flag as Dove Jude of the Mono Lake Paiute, sang "American the Beautiful" in her native language. Dove's rendition of "American the Beautiful" is truly breathtaking.

During a break in the Rodeo events, the Pow Wow dancers prepared themselves. Over 50 Pow Wow dancers danced in a circle in the middle of the arena demonstrating their style of dance. CEO Tracy Edwards introduced the dancers as they came out into the area. The dance styles ranged—both men and women danced, elders and children danced and everyone in between. While this dance was incredible to watch, it is just a sneak peak of what you can see if you attend the Stillwater Pow Wow. The dancers were proud to share it with a new crowd of people and invite them to come see more dancing at the Stillwater Pow Wow in October.

Tribal Chairman Jack Potter Jr. rode on the stagecoach during a break in events. A couple of horses broke loose and the stagecoach briefly lost control. The horses stopped and there were no serious injuries. Jack had a wild ride!

We are proud to work with the Redding Rodeo Association to share our culture and heritage with this crowd of people and we are grateful for the support we continue to receive!

MISSING MURDERED INDIGENOUS WOMAN AWARENESS REDDING RANCHERIA

Every year, Redding Rancheria acknowledges MMIW/MMIP. The Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women (MMIW) and Missing and Murdered Indigenous People (MMIP) awareness movement is crucial for tribal communities to recognize because it addresses the alarming rates of violence and disappearance faced by Indigenous people, particularly women. By acknowledging this movement, tribes can unite in raising awareness, advocating for justice, and implementing measures to protect their members. Recognizing MMIW/MMIP also honors the victims and supports their families, while fostering a sense of solidarity and resilience within the community. It prompts necessary policy changes and resource allocation from both tribal and governmental institutions, ensuring the safety and dignity of Indigenous populations. We stand with tribal communities in fighting for change to protect our people from violence.

MILDRED RHOADES DIABETES WALK

REDDING RANCHERIA TRIBAL HEALTH SYSTEM

In May, we held the Mildred Rhoades Annual Diabetes Prevention Walk, marking another successful year of community gathering to raise awareness about diabetes. This heartfelt event brought together our community to honor those who have lost their battles with diabetes and to celebrate the resilience of those living with diabetes. Many participants walked the scenic route. Each step was a testament to the collective commitment towards a healthier future and a symbol of the ongoing fight against diabetes.

This year's walk was especially poignant as we remembered Mildred Rhoades, whose struggle with diabetes inspired the inception of this vital community tradition 24 years ago. This event highlighted the power of unity in facing health challenges and reinforced our dedication to supporting those living with diabetes, as well as preventing new cases through increased awareness and education. Together, we celebrated a significant stride towards a brighter, healthier tomorrow.

MINDS MATTER – MENTAL HEALTH RESOURCE FAIR

Sara Hurn, Dow Angspatt, Norma Ellenwood, Desirey Ortiz and Kai Albert

On May 4, 2024, the Redding Rancheria Recovery Department had the pleasure of participating in the Minds Matter event to support mental health awareness. Our team shared information and resources to help people understand and improve mental wellness and recovery. Our involvement showed how important it is to talk openly about mental health and substance use. Our goal is to work together and support each other to reduce the stigma that plagues mental health and recovery. We like to meet the patients where they are in their mental health and recovery journey and ensure they get the compassionate and quality care they deserve.

Redding Rancheria Tribal Health System’s Behavioral Health and Recovery team played a role in promoting mental health awareness and support at the Minds Matter Mental Health Fair. Our team actively engaged with community members, offering valuable resources, coping strategies, and a space for open dialogue surrounding mental health challenges. Through interactive activities like creating calming jars and breathing beads, we fostered a sense of community and empowerment, equipping individuals with tangible tools to manage stress. Our participation exemplified our commitment to holistic wellness and our dedication to serving the mental health needs of the Shasta County community.

At the event, our team demonstrated our dedication to destigmatizing mental health issues and promoting proactive self-care practices. By actively engaging with attendees and providing practical resources and activities, we aimed to instill a sense of resilience and empowerment within the community. Through our collaborative efforts at the Minds Matter Mental Health Fair, we reinforced our mission to prioritize mental health as an integral component of overall well-being.
